

SmartBiz: Integral Solution For Your Business Management

It is a fact, all business themselves get to be dependent, in an incremental manner, of the rapid electronic interactions (through clients, partners, employees and providers). As the technological field becomes more and more complex, information progressively becomes hard to handle and process. Thus, 2AG Software Factory presents a whole and integral solution for your business, it does allow you to manage on demand both inner and outer processes.

The necessity for integrating platforms and making them inter-operables was conceived mainly because of the fact that consumers are the last ones who receive benefits. Many Enterprise Systems need to get connected, in a way, to some other systems, either within the company itself, or with external partners all along Internet for instance. In many cases the new demands make of this an essential integration. This way, an integral system, running along the company's main support, is required. Integration, may reduce the time which takes a certain information to be available. It also may reduce expenditures
